1:00 PM Empire Room Welcome and Annual Meeting
Our Association leadership will share with our members an update on the “business of NYAPT.” Learn about our accomplishments and about exciting new directions for the future. Also hear from the individuals who are running for election.

2:00 PM Educational Workshops

Salon A Riding the School Bus Thru the Eyes of Autism David Krause
Guest Presenter
David Krause is a familiar attendee at our Annual Conferences and his perspectives on school transportation are always interesting and insightful. We look forward to David’s observations and recommendations!

Salon B Loading & Unloading Considerations Betty Hughes
Institute
Pupil Transportation Safety
The process of getting our children on board safely and then getting them off the bus just as safely is a vital part of the school bus ride. It is also where things can go very wrong, very quickly. We need to take this session seriously, for the children.

Salon D De-Escalation Strategies on the Bus David Christopher
Institute
Pupil Transportation Safety
In today’s world, it is more likely that someone will take an argument to a higher level and even get violent. Also in today’s world, how we handle those moments is likely to be videotaped by the school bus or by a Smart Phone. This session will explore best practices in the crucial area of de-escalating serious situations.

3:15 PM Educational Workshops

Salon A Delivering Hard News William Hoosty
WRH Consulting, Inc.
Parents. Drivers. Administrators. On any given day, one of these groups of people can be the subject of hard news or bad news from us. How we share that news, the words we use, the tone and inflection of our voice makes all the difference. Bill Hoosty always has a unique method to sharing such lessons. Listen.

Associates

Panelists: Joe Goodway, Rochelle O'Mara, Brian Trask

Leaders often find themselves saying "how did I get in this predicament?" This session will explore (with some humor and candor) those moments when you can't tell which is worse: the rock or the hard place. And our panel of NYAPT members will share their moments and strategies. You just gotta see this!

Salon C Driver Safety Review

Richard Gallagher, Bay Shore UFSD & Frank Klein, Suffolk Transportation

The news has been full of stories about situations that might not have happened but for more rigorous driver management by districts and contractors. This district/contractor team works hand-in-hand to ensure safety. We all may do it differently but here is one that we have seen work...in large part because of a really strong partnership.

8:30 AM General Session

Featured Speaker: Craig Davidson, Author, “PRECIOUS CARGO”

Craig Davidson is an author (he publishes mysteries under a different name) who found himself driving a school bus when life didn't pan out on other opportunities. He shares a sensitive, honest and totally aware picture of being the person in the drivers' seat of a school bus, transporting 6 students with special needs and finding how much there is to learn from them and from his experience. Here's an observation from the book: "Everyone (of the drivers) was seeking to do something valuable for a few hours a day. They were good, smart, caring people who took their job seriously and did it well."

In a time when we are struggling to find school bus drivers, Craig gives us a ray of hope and words that shore up our perception of this awesome role in our schools and communities. (NOTE: Craig will be on hand to sell and sign his book PRECIOUS CARGO following his presentation)

| Salon B | NAPT: Driver Risk Index | Catherine Hickem
Cindy Barber
The Dash Group |

You need good drivers. Drivers you can trust. Drivers you can depend on to do the right thing. In a time when drivers are often at a premium, you need to make smart decisions on selection. NAPT has partnered with The Dash Group to develop a driver risk index tool to help make those decisions with confidence so you can rest better knowing you have done the right thing.

Salon C Thinking Ahead on Pre-K

Betty Hughes
Pupil Transportation Safety

Institute

As Pre-Kindergarten and other early childhood programs expand in our schools and communities, we need to be prepared to accept younger children with different needs on our buses and be ready to relate and respond. We will explore “some” of the needs and issues that means for us and our drivers...and the children.

Salon D Opioids and School Buses

Walter Davies
Office of Alcohol &
Abuse

Substance Services

There is an Opioid crisis growing across our nation, in rural, suburban and urban areas alike. It is affecting our children but also our drivers. Kids are using and often dying from their use; drivers often find pain drugs addicting following injuries. How do we prepare drivers to identify kids with problems and monitor our drivers for their issues?

Your drivers tap in a URL address and they see a page full of the very important information they need to know that day. They can find rules about field trips or maybe a training module on kids with autism. They are looking at YOUR OWN website! Can you make this work for you? We bet you can!!

Salon B	Safety Technology: For School Buses? Pres.	Joseph Peplinski, Vice
----------------	---	-------------------------------

Haylor, Freyer & Coon

When the NTSB speaks, our industry listens. The NTSB has several times recommended the introduction of several safety technologies onto school buses for safety. We need to know more about what those technologies are and how they might affect student safety and operations. Today is the day we learn more!

Salon D	Life After the NTSB Report: Accountability	David Christopher Pupil Transportation Safety
----------------	---	--

This spring, the NTSB issued a report on two fatal bus accidents. While others focused on seat belt findings, we have focused more directly on the issues of accountability of districts and operators for the readiness of their drivers and child safety. This workshop will probe the serious implications of the NTSB findings in this vital area. A must hear...

7:45 AM

Salon EFGH

General Session and Breakfast

Guest Speaker: John McDonald, Jeff-Co Schools

That moment when you hear that a gun has been fired in a classroom building or, God forbid, on a school bus. There is no taking the words back. What do you do? Where do you go? How do you get your arms around what is happening? How do you deal with scared kids and uncertain staff? How do you come back the next day and do what needs doing? And how do you prevent this from happening in the first place? Or can you? Our speaker has been there, in the thick of all of those questions as a family member whose kids were at Columbine on April 20, 1999. He has since gone on to develop school strategies for security and safety and has teamed up with Safe and Sound Schools, a non-profit formed by Sandy Hook parents. He has a crucial message for us today.

10:15 AM Panel Discussion

Salon EFGH School Responses to Violence: GROUP PANEL Discussion

What happens when a school shooting or violent incident occurs? What is the impact on the children? What are parents expecting of us in such moments? How do we prepare school bus drivers for their role in such emotional moments? How do we support drivers for their own needs? How do we ensure that transportation is at the table when planning occurs and training is offered? What kind of planning and training and policies need to be considered for such events? Let's talk!

MODERATOR: Peter Mannella, Executive Director, NYAPT & Cyr Foundation

PANELISTS:

- Kyle Belokopitsky, Executive Director NYS PTA
- Jessica Goldstein, Deputy Director of Policy Services
